INCIDENTS OF THE DAY

TWO GUARD MOUNTS AND RE-TREAT PARADE YESTERDAY.

Camp Liscum presented a busies scene yesterday than in the day pre-ceding and while the boys were inclined to frolic after taps sounded Tuesday evening they were good and ready last night to turn into their cots and blankets. General Cannon proposes to make this national guard encampment count for something and if trying his men out five hours a day in the broiling sun and giving them two guard mounts and the retreat parade can accomplish it, the general will be immensely successful.

At 5:45 yesterday morning the guardsmen were routed out and immediately after mess they were called to company drill. When this was over and a good sweat had been worked up they were marshalled for battalion drill. Lieutenant Colonel Sam Park and Lieutenant Colonel Lund of the brigadier general's staff, each having a battalion in charge. Only on such occasions as these can the men be drilled properly in large detachments, the cramped space of the city streets or the armory making it impossible. So the boys got really more than they thought was coming to them.

In the evening the regimental drill took place and it didn't take the soldiers long to make up their minds that it was bedtime after that was over.

Captain Greenwald of the signal corps sent a squad out under Lieutenant Smith in the afternoon with a couple of heliographs and a delightful conversation was carried on between the camp and Ensign peak. The instruments worked perfectly and several messages were sent back and forth without error. The practice was witnessed by forty-five or fifty visitors and the corps was loudly praised.

While this was going on, Lieutenant Nels Margetts had a detail of seventeen men at the gailing guns, showing them how to handle cannon. As soon as one squad thought they had mastered the article, another was put in the harness and the gatling drill was going on practically all day.

From any standpoint the encampment is the best in the history of the guard. Roll call yesterday showed that 319 officers and men were in camp, which is greater by forty than the number last year. Most of the familiar faces are missing. Among the officers General Cannon, Lieutenant Colonel Park and Captain Greenwald are the

The camp is well policed, well situated and well kept, and during the next six days there will doubtless be large numbers of visitors for the men to entertain.

Captain Heywood of E company, Bountiful, and Lieutenant Jorgensen of F company, Manti, assumed the duties of officer of the day and officer of the guard, respectively, last evening.

Notes of the Camp. The members of company G are now called "Lizzie Boys" by the other companies, and while it is true that they are a source of amusement for their older comrades-in-arms, they managed to capture the first three or four homors in the way of orderlies to the bradier general. It must also be undestood that the "G" boys are not all tenderfeet, either, for if a person could have had the good luck to see the boys

FRIENDS HELP.

St. Paul Park Incident.

"After drinking a cup and a half of coffee once a day I always felt languid and dull, having no ambition to get to my morning duties. Then in about an hour or so a weak, nervous derangement of the heart and stomach would come over me with such force I would frequently have to lie down.

"At other times I had severe headaches; stomach finally became affected and digestion so impaired that I had serious chronic dyspensia and constitution."

Yesterday's Attendance Was a Surprise to Everybody.

DELIGHTFUL WEATHER

THE BATHING WAS INDULGED IN BY A LARGE NUMBER OF THE PATRONS-DANCING WAS MORE ENJOYABLE THAN EVER

The public has already shown its desires in regard to the closing of Saltair by giving the resort a large attendance yesterday and last night, and no doubt the attendance during the rest of the season will prove quite profitable to the owners of both pavilion and the railroad upon to execute maneuvers of all descriptions, but if the men had their way about it, the drill would be a sham battle out and out.

Besides the Salt Lake companies in eamp there are company E of Bountiful, F of Manti and D of Woodruff, Rich county. The out-of-town men are joilled by the locals on the slightest provocation, and 'Rastus, the colored mascot of the guard, divides his time eating watermelons and devising ways and means to give the country fellows the worst of it.

The guard house has not been very liberally patronized so far, but one soldier who quit relief for an hour without permission was chastised by a few hours' confinement.

The camp is well policed, well situated the colored water is all that any one could desire, and the temperature of the water is almost as warm as it has been any day during the summer, and the bathing was most thoroughly enjoyed by those who went in the water.

The dancing in the evening was particularly enjoyable, and those who were at the beach last night will surely take advantage of every opportunity to enjoy the pleasures of the rescape the close of the season, whi all probability run at least three weeks longer.

Eureka, Sept. 4.—The remains of James Gardner, a veteran of the civil war, will be interred in the City cemetery at the expense of the county tomorrow afternoon, "unwept, unhonored and unsung." Gardner, who died last evening at the Eureka hospital, was brought here a few days ago from Silver City for treatment for epileosy. At the time of his death he was about 52 years of age, and aside from the fact that he served in the civil war little of his earlier life is known. He has been a resident of Tintle mining district for something like fifteen years, and during that period has worked in many of the mines, having been employed at the Alaska, near Silver City, just before the county officers had him removed to the hospital.

The funeral will be held from A. N. Wallace's undertaking rooms tomoorow at 2 p. m., and a number of miners are expected to attend.

sewers and drainage and 5 mills for sewers and drainage and 5 mills for water and water resources.

The reason for the increase is declared to be the fact that the city entirely ex hausted its surplus cash in maintaining rigid cuarantine regulations to prevent the spread of smallpox, with which the city was afflicted last winter.

When the city secured a lease upon the plant of the Homansville Water company it was thought that the water system could be operated in such a manner as not only to provide sufficient water for the residents of town, but for the city's need, at a seving to the taxpayers. Almost from the first, however, the plant has been operated at a loss to the city, and the service has of mate been so poor that patrons secured part of their water for cullinary nurposes from wells, which are not plentiful in Eureka, especially in the western part of the city.

Some three months ago the city notified the residents of the camp that no water would be allowed patrons for lawns and trees. Despite this, in some parts of the town there have been times when it was impossible to get water from the city hydrants, and even on Main street the water service has been irregular.

At its last session the city council passed a resolution instructing the fire and water committee to confer with the manager of the Bullion-Beck Mining company (which controls the Homansville Water company), and see if that company would not take the water plant off the city's hands. Before the city took a lease on the plant, the Homansville Water company threatened to close the plant down unless the city either bought or leased it, thus leaving the town with only the water which could be taken from wells. As there was no alternative, the city made arrangements to operate the plant under lease.

If the Homansville Water company refuses to take the plant Oct. I, the complete on fire and water has been instructed by the city council to close down the plant, leaving the town practically without water and without protection in case of fire.

Bank Case Upheld.

An opinion was rendered in the supreme court yesterday in the case of R. J. Burraston, plaintiff and appellant, against the First National bank of Nephi, affirming the verdict of the lower court in awarding defendant a verdict of no cause of action. The opinion was written by District Judge McCarty and concurred in by Supreme Justices Bartch and Baskin.

The plaintiff sued to recover $11,768.53 alleged to be due on deposits of money made between September, 1886, and January, 1894. Burraston could neither read nor write and signed checks for money and notes to cover overdrafts by making his mark, and it was also shown that frequently he did business with the bank through members of his family. Notwithstanding that plaintiff had twice examined his bank account with an expert and both times admitted its correctness, he did not call the account into question by legal proceedings until three years after it was closed.

The appeal was taken from the order (Special to The Herald.)
